Dating back from 1943, this family farm was built and maintained until today, and it's ready to continue its production, of fruit (apples, pears, plums, cherries, kiwi, figs), olive oil, and wine. Two wells and a borehole provide the water for the dripping watering system. A channel made by the owners conducts the stream that flows from the mountain and crosses the land.

The main house built with large stone walls is divided by two floors. The first floor can be accessed either by exterior steps or an interior staircase.
